It is normal for a Coleman®. liquid fuel stove to burn with a large yellow flame when first started. Until the generator assembly is hot enough to vaporize the fuel, the stove will burn with a yellow flame. Once the generator heats up enough, the flame will turn to blue and settle closer to the burner. Under normal use, this can take from 20 to 60 seconds depending on the outside temperature ...

Coleman Camp Stove No 425 Manual

Coleman Classic Stove model 425E. A good picnic-table stove for horse camping doesn't have to be complicated to be great. It should cook food and boil water quickly, and be rugged enough to withstand travel in the back of a truck or trailer. The coleman classic is just that, uncomplicated yet great. It also costs less than half of most other camping stoves. This is a simple and ...
